Justice Reinvestment Initiative (JRI)

- Data-driven process to increase public safety.
- More effective and efficient use of criminal justice resources to reduce recidivism and hold individuals accountable.

JRI Category 3: Cross-Agency Information Sharing

- Develop and build data-sharing tools such as arrest alert systems that assist in addressing expensive deficiencies in sites' criminal justice systems.
- Break down information sharing silos and challenge current practices that may impede a community's crime reduction strategies.

5

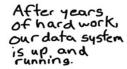

Project Summary

- Working with stakeholders to identify high impact data tools and products
 - · Wide net of stakeholders
- Building on existing IT infrastructure to support interagency and cross-sector sharing
 - Arkansas Data Hub to support specific data needs

Data Hub Capabilities

- Secure, governed sharing of data across programs, departments, and sectors
 - More complete measures of re-offense and recidivism
 - Sharing of offender education, work history, barriers
- Analysis of data over time across multiple touch points
 - What actions have been most effective at reducing criminogenic risk?
 - What skills, credentials, and services lead to sustained employment?
- Rules-based actions (notifications, referrals) on events of interest
 - Notify local law enforcement when violent/STG offenders are released into their jurisdiction
 - Manage education and employment services across all sequential intercepts

Moving forward

• Stakeholder feedback – identifying opportunities

- Additional stakeholder time for more in depth one on one and small group conversations
- Core implementation team: idea grouping and quadrant analysis
- Data product development
- Evaluation of data usage pre and post project
